Welcome Message

Dear delegates

We welcome you with Immense pleasure and pride to the 12th Annual Conference of the Andhra Pradesh Obstetrics & Gynaecological Society - APCOG 2027, to be held from 2nd to 4th July 2027, MYR Function Hall, Bellary Road, via NH 44 Ananthapuramu. Hosted by the Ananthapuramu Obstetrics and Gynaecological Society.

Theme: "Redefining Women's Health in 2027"

APCOG 2027 brings together obstetricians, gynaecologists, teachers, researchers and young minds from across Andhra Pradesh and beyond on a common platform to learn, exchange ideas, inspire innovation and shape the future of women's healthcare.

This prestigious scientific gathering will offer a thoughtfully curated scientific programme featuring keynote lectures, expert panels, interactive discussions, hands-on workshops, free papers and poster presentations, with emphasis on translating contemporary evidence and innovation into everyday clinical practice.

Beyond Academics, APCOG 2027 is about connections, conversations and collaboration - strengthening professional bonds across generations and creating opportunities to learn from one another. Set against the historic and vibrant backdrop of Ananthapuramu, delegates will also enjoy our region's celebrated hospitality and explore its rich heritage.

We look forward to welcoming you to the APCOG 2027-where knowledge meets experience, ideas inspire change, and together we redefine the future of women's health.

Welcome to Ananthapuramu.

Welcome to APCOG 2027.

Ananthapuramu

Ananthapuramu (also known as Ananthapur) is one of the principal cities of the Rayalaseema region in the Indian state of Andhra Pradesh and serves as the administrative headquarters of Ananthapuramu District. Situated in the southwestern part of the state, the city is distinguished by its rich historical legacy, cultural heritage, spiritual significance, and characteristic semi-arid landscape.

Ananthapuramu is an important educational, commercial, and administrative center, with excellent connectivity to major cities across South India. The region is internationally recognized for its agricultural prominence, particularly in groundnut cultivation, which has earned it the title "Groundnut Capital of Andhra Pradesh" and made it a significant contributor to the state's agrarian economy. Proudly known as the 'Fruit Bowl of Andhra Pradesh,' Ananthapuramu is celebrated for its luscious sweet oranges, mangoes, and rich horticultural heritage.

The district is home to several renowned landmarks and pilgrimage destinations, including Lepakshi, Puttaparthi, and Thimmamma Marrimanu, attracting visitors from across India and around the world.
